MYSTERIOUS WOMAN AIDS BRANDENBURG

DOES NOT SEE PRISONER BUT HINTS AT GETTING BOND.

Thinks Caller at Station May Have Appreciated His Slum Work.

HIS WIFE IS COMING HERE.

St. Louis, July 8.—A strange woman, pretty and dressed in the height of fashion, who refused to give her name, is the latest person to take an interest in Broughton Brandenburg, facing trial here for entangling from his home James Shepard Cabanne III, 9 years old, whom he spirited away to San Francisco. The woman was at police headquarters several times inquiring about the amount of bond that would be required to secure the release of the well-known writer. She finally said that it would not be necessary for him to remain long in jail. The woman did not visit the prisoner, and when the fact of her presence was imparted to him in his cell, Brandenburg said he could not imagine who she was unless she was one of the young women who became interested in his slum work when he was in St. Louis four or five years ago. At that time, he said, several of the women who were also interested in the work told him that if he ever needed assistance they could be called upon. Brandenburg said that he had almost forgotten the words of the women and that he had not called on any of them for assistance.

Wife Is Coming Here.

Brandenburg received two letters from Mrs. Cabanne-Brandenburg. Both were couched in endearing terms, and in the last one Mrs. Brandenburg said she hoped to be able to leave New York Thursday of this week, so that she could be in St. Louis in time to appear as a witness for Brandenburg in case he was sent to trial.

On his way to St. Louis Monday Brandenburg gave the newspapers a story for which he was paid $25. He received the check and it was immediately forwarded to Mrs. Brandenburg at New York.

"It was the first money I have earned in some time," said Brandenburg. "There is no use denying the fact that I am broke, but I still have my brains and my good right hand and can recuperate if given a chance. I have some more money coming to me and that will be sent to Mrs. Brandenburg, so she can come to St. Louis."

"After I am out of this trouble, or for that matter while I am awaiting trial on bond, which I expect to get within a short time, I propose to remain right here in St. Louis."

Did Not Elope With Mrs. Cabanne.
What seemed to worry Brandenburg more than anything else yesterday was a story printed in a morning paper to the effect that he had eloped with Mrs. James S. Cabanne. He dictated the following, bearing on that story:

"In reference to the printed statement that I eloped with the then Mrs. Cabanne, this is a gross error, an injustice to her. The Cabannes had patched up a divorce suit some time prior to 1906. In May of that year came another family rupture and Mrs. Cabanne took up her home with her brother-in-law, E. W. Bliss, in New York. In July she returned to St. Louis to get her son.

As one of Bliss' intimate friends, I knew her and Mr. Cabanne, and being on a visit to my father at Springfield, Ill., and having business in St. Louis, I was in St. Louis a portion of the time that Mrs. Cabanne was here. I remained in St. Louis for some time after she left, and was with Mr. Cabanne many times. After leaving St. Louis she lived with her sister and then established her home with Blauvelt's family. When in New York I was at home at my house, 25 Fifth avenue, which I relinquished May 1, 1907. I did not accompany Mrs. Cabanne and there was no elopement. I didn't even know her destination and subsequent whereabouts for some time."

For Attorney General.

Bowling Green, Ky., July 8.—In the current issue of the Bowling Green Messenger the Hon. Mills M. Logan, of Edmonson county, announces his candidacy for attorney general of the commonwealth, subject to the action of the Democratic party. He is the first candidate to formally announce his purpose to make the race for a state office. Mr. Logan is only 34 years of age, but has a wide acquaintance throughout the district and is counted one of the brightest lawyers of his age in southern Kentucky. It is not thought that the Third district will present any other candidate for a state office to the next state convention. Mr. Logan will soon begin a tour of the state in the interest of his candidacy.

A Promise to Pay

Would you accept a stranger's note? No. Then why accept from a stranger any other promise to pay? A Fire Insurance policy is such a promise. Ought you to accept it without knowing all about the Company? Your usual business confidence is based on knowledge. Why make an exception in that part of your business which deals with insurance? A name is worth nothing on any kind of a promise to pay unless it is backed by character and resources.

We favor insurance knowledge, particularly about our companies. Their promises to pay have never gone to protest. Their obligations to us policy holders are backed with such a good reputation and such ample financial resources that the more you know about them the more you will want protection by their policies.

THREE NATIONS ARE TAKING PART

SCENE OF CHAMPLAIN CELEBRATION SHIFTS TO BURLINGTON.

The Canadian, American and British Troops in Pageant—French and English Ambassadors.

BRIGHT MILITARY PARADE

Plattsburg, N. Y., July 8.—New York state's share in the tercentenary celebration of the discovery of Lake Champlain reached its climax. The scene of pageantry, parades, speech-making, interchange of compliments among the three nations of France, Great Britain and the United States who shared in the history-making of the Champlain country, will all be transferred across the lake to Vermont, and Burlington will have its fling.

President Taft, Ambassadors Jusserand of France, and Bryce, of Great Britain, with Governors Hughes and Prouty, occupied the center of the celebration stage. Each made three speeches, and all were present at a banquet last night. Senator Root was added to the prominent guests and made the historical address of the celebration at Plattsburg barracks. Postmaster General Rodolphe Lemieux, of Canada, also spoke at the barracks, and with Root and others again at the banquet, where expressions of friendly feeling among the three great nations participating in the tercentenary were emphasized.

Mr. Lemieux and Ambassador Jusserand each took President Taft for a subject and their remarks gave him equal prominence with Champlain. Jusserand declared that there must be a feeling between Champlain and the president, for each knew what it was to plant a flag in a far away land.

"The spirit and all that was best in Champlain," declared Jusserand, "lives again in President Taft, and there is a people in a distant archipelago who know it and feel it, and who for centuries will bless his name."

Canada had a large share in the celebration and on the military reservation at Plattsburg barracks the president and other guests witnessed a parade of American and Canadian troops which was spectacular to a degree seldom attained in this country. A regiment of Highlanders in their characteristic scarlet coats, furry hats and kilts from Ottawa, and another regiment, the governor general's footguard, also from Ottawa, in a uniform of almost equal brilliancy, all fully armed and with bands playing British and Scotch marches and melodies, participated in the military display. Two regiments and a squadron of cavalry from the United States forces and a regiment of the New York state national guard, all in the modest blue of the American army, formed a contrast with the bright color which the foreigners presented.

The five regiments first were drawn up in regimental front across the wide spreading parade ground of the barracks opposite the president's reviewing stand. The speech making and exercises at the stand had been completed and the sun was fast slipping down to the western horizon when the bugles began the stirring notes of "assembly."

Almost in an instant the ragged fringe of soldiers was transformed into a rigid line which stretched from one end of the vast parade ground to the other. By singular coincidence and adding immeasurably to the impressiveness of the review the proceedings had been delayed until the sounding of the assembly had barely preceded the time of retreat, the "setting of the sun." While all the troops Canadian and American alike, stood at attention a squad of buglers began the familiar notes of evening call.

Boy Drowned.

Cadiz, Ky., July 8.—Frank, the 14-year-old son of W. Sam Boyd, a prominent farmer living four miles west of here, was drowned in Little river, near his father's home. A gasoline boat belonging to A. P. White was tied to the bank near the house, and while Frank and his brother were playing on the boat, in an effort to climb around the end of the boat the little fellow stepped on the stern wheel, which turned and threw him into the water.

Sunstroke.

In nine cases out of ten sunstroke or heat stroke simply means fainting, fainting caused by sun or air heat acting on one whose resistance has been lowered by disease, drunkenness or fashionable dressing. It starts with a giddy feeling; he may stagger and then he falls, is pale, pulse small, weak and fluttery, breathing soft and sighing, skin cold and clammy, he is partly or wholly unconscious. Usually he recovers without treatment in a few hours with splitting headache and great weakness, but some cases fall directly from fainting into death from heart failure.—New York Press.

WATER NOTICE.

Patrons of the Water company are reminded that their rents expired June 30, and those who desire to renew them should do so before it is forgotten, as all premises not paid for on or before July 10 will be shut off.

U. S. TO KEEP IN NAVAL RACE.

Expansion Necessary to Meet Strides of Germany and Japan.

Washington, July 8.—Germany and Japan will be much in mind when the naval bill of next winter is discussed in congress. It is not that anybody has particular fears of either of those countries, but that both are plainly determined to develop their power and position in their prospective fields of commercial and political influence. As to Germany, it is recognized that the German menace is not directed against the United States, as a few years ago, but against Great Britain. As to Japan, even her British allies are increasingly nervous about her disposition to crowd out British shipping and commercial interests all over the Pacific.

These things are being pointed out as reasons why it is necessary for the United States as security to its own future in both the east and South America and as a growing commercial factor to maintain an impressive navy. There is more or less opposition to naval increases; but everything indicates that the navy will grow in future with greater strides than in the past, so long as the leading European powers continue in their race of naval expansion.

President Taft is credited with a firm purpose of influential participation in all the larger politics of the east, to the extent of protecting every proper commercial opportunity for Americans there.
